From Their Excellencies

Greetings all,

Grand Outlandish is right around the corner and we, as a Barony, still have much to do. As you may know the Barony will be hosting a party on Saturday night in the Citadel camp. We will need your assistance to help prepare the food, set tables, decorate and much more. If you cannot make it to Outlandish and would like to send food or drink to make the party better, the Honorable Lord Warmin will be accepting donation at fighter practice every week.

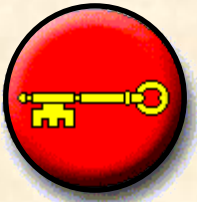

Clann Wars is well under construction, but volunteers are still needed. Please see Leah if you would like to make the best event ever even better. Your help is appreciated and needed.

The May officers meeting will be on Saturday, May 21 at 11am at the fighter practice site. We will be discussing Outlandish, Battlemore and Clann Wars. We need your input, please plan on attending.

*Conrade and Leah
Baron and Baroness
Citadel of the Southern Pass*

Business Meeting Minutes

Seneschal: The Ecolli-Inn will be open for: Outlandish, Battelmoor and Clan Wars. If you have any questions, or would like more details, please contact Warmin. We need new ideas on how to collect toys. From having events where the site fee is toy donations to competitions at events that require a toy to participate, any idea is welcome and needed.

Knight Marshal: Greetings Populace of the Citadel. I would like to urge you all to make an effort to come out to our weekly fighter practices as much as possible. With you attending, it will show others that have interest in our group, what and who we are. If there is just a couple of us fooling around, it won't look quite as fun or interesting. Fighter Practice will be moving to Saturdays at Noon at the El Paso Museum of History starting 1st weekend in March (5th). El Paso Museum of History, 510 North Santa Fe Street.

Exchequer: The Exchequer for the Citadel is still in fine condition and the Barony is solvent. This month is the end of the first quarter of the present year and I am preparing the report for the Kingdom. That will be sent to the Kingdom Exchequer no later than month's end.

Chiurgeon: Still no injuries to report.

Scribe: (On behalf of Lord Edmund) Lord Edmund has created a site compiled of really useful information for the SCA. The link is: <http://home.roadrunner.com/~vsinglet/Edmund/index.htm>

Arts and Sciences: Lord Edmund took first in the performance category for the Kingdome Arts and Science Competition. He has, graciously, provided a copy of the poem he preformed to be included in this news letter. Congratulations to Lord Edmund!

Chronicler: We need an Autocrat for the Masquerade/Birthday in October.

The Stag and the Sun

By Edmund Peregrine

The worth of a king is in warlike deeds.
Many the men his mead-benches fill,
Heroes shall haste to his hearth and hall,
If bards do call him battle-brave.
I sing of the Stag King, strong of shield,
Mighty in battle, his mead-benches full,
Giver of foe-grief, giver of gold,
Guard to his folk and his gold-adorned Queen.

The King of the Sun calls to his kin,
“Comes a king my crown to steal.”
“Gather thy men, metal meld,”
“Forge the sword, the foe to slay.”
Then spake the Stag, strong in words,
Spake then of war, his wordhoard unlocked,
“Brother bids us, battle binds us.”
“Wyrd and kin-oath call us to war.”
“Outlands fighters, fear not fate.”
“To meet the foe, to fall on the field,”
“To go to death is glory given.”
“If wyrd wills, thy warrior hearts”
“Will be the victor and vanquish those”
“That come against us, king or common.”
“Then to thy deeds will I drink a cup,”
“In the halls of the living, or the halls of the dead.”

The flags of the Sun fly over the field,
The Blue and the Gold greet the dawn.
The Stag then leaps in the light of morning,
The Stag’s Queen, calls for quiet,
Drums toll the death-knell, doom to all
Who stand against the Stag and the Sun.
Steps forth the Stag-King, stands in the place,
Between the armies, before the battle.
Spies the one who seeks to slay
And take the crown of the King of the Sun.
“I am the Stag, strong in battle,”
“King of the Outlands, son of kings.”
“Look with fear upon thy foe,”
“Thou that com’st a crown to steal.”
“My men are fierce and full of rage”
“That such as thee should seek our harm.”
“Go thieves, go from this field.”
“There is no honor, there is no glory,”
“Here for thee, thus I have said it!”
From Blue and Green, great was the shout.

Forward the fighters to the field of battle.
Strike the shield with sword and spear,
Battle-bold byrnie-breakers.
The foemen fall before the fire,
The battle-fury of the fierce Stag.
All are swept before the surge,
Before the soldiers, swords of the Outlands.
Against the flood no foe can stand.
The blood cools, clear is the field
The Green and the Gold hold the ground.

The King of the Ravens calls his kin.
“Cro-ak, cro-ak, come to my hall.”
“My roof is lit with the light of stars,”
“The moon my hearth-fire, my mead-benches full.”
What meat do they eat? What mead do they drink?
What songs are sung for the slain in battle?
Widow’s wailing for warriors lost,
These songs are sung ‘fore the Raven King.

The King of the Sun calls his kin.
“Come, come, come to my hall.”
“My lamps are lit, the light of the hearth”
“Shows the men my mead-benches fill.”
What meat do they eat? What mead do they drink?
What songs are sung for the slain in battle?
Songs of the fierceness of Aten fighters,
These songs are sung ‘fore the Aten King.
Goes o’er the field of Green and Gold.

Raises a goblet, “Go my husband,”
“Fulfill thy oath to fighters owed,”
“And sing the fame of friends departed.”
The Stag drinks and stands to praise
The deeds of those that death has taken.
Each man in turn, then takes and drinks
A cup to the bravery of battle comrades.

The worth of a king is in warlike deeds.
Many the men his mead-benches fill,
Heroes shall haste to his hearth and hall,
If bards do call him battle-brave.
